

ZMK (26) 4/2010, S. 178–184

Prof. Dr. Oliver Kaschke

Hals-Nasen-Ohren-ärztliche Aspekte der Halitosis

1. Filippi, A.: Halitosis-Aktueller Stand und Perspektiven. Zahnmedizin up2date 4, 351-366 (2008)
2. Van den Broek, A.M.W.T., Feenstra, L., De Baat, C.: A review of the current literature on management of halitosis. Oral Disease 14, 30-39 (2008)
3. Tonzetich, J.: Oral malodour: An indicator of health status and oral cleanliness. Int J Dent, 28, 309-319 (1977)
4. Myers, N.E., Compliment, J.M., Post, J.C., Buchinsky, F.D.: Tonsilloliths a common finding in pediatric patients. Nurse Practitioner 31, 53-54 (2006)
5. Rio, A.C., Franchi-Teixeira, A.R., Nicola E.M.: Relationship between the presence of tonsilloliths and halitosis in patients with chronic caseous tonsillitis. Br Dent J 204, E 4 (2008)
6. Lee, S.S., Zhang, W., Li, Y.: Halitosis update: a review of causes, daignoses, and treatment. J Calif Dent Assoc 35, 258-268 (2007)
7. Ng, D.K, Chow, P.Y., Kwok, K.L.: Halitosis and the nose. Hong Kong Med J 11, 71-21 (2005)
8. Dixon J.W., Senior, B.A., Reebye, U.N., Cottrell, D.A.: Rhinosinusitis: diagnosis, management, and dental implications. J Mass Dent Soc 52, 50-52 (2004)
9. Berk, L.: Systemic pilocarpine for treatment of xerostomia. Expert Opin Drug Metab Toxicol 4, 1333-1340 (2008)
10. Khosravani, N. et al.: The cholinesterase inhibitor for the local treatment of dry mouth: a randomized study. Eur J Oral Sci 117, 209-217 (2008)